Abstract

Different scientific disciplines sometimes know to be unfair about the activities of some exemplary distinguished figures of human kind. These scientific disciplines called theological studies, historical or literary studies, left blanks and empty corners in their valuable deeds as a result of ideological violence. The target to be blamed, are regimes and their collaborators who misinterpret the history and exact description of meritorious images of certain valuable figures. The same practice has happened to many Albanians during different stages of history. In this research paper will be highlighted the life stream of Imam Vehbi Ismaili, an activist who devoted his life to materialization of Albanian aspirations such as freedom of communistic doctrine and religious beliefs. He even at a young age surrounded in difficult conditions, managed to realize that the key to the progress of a nation is the knowledge and the courage. Imam Vehbi Ismaili, fled the country of the origin on the advice of his father after he graduated the theological studies and went to United States of America. He remained there for the rest of his life unless he rested in peace. The methods used in this research paper are the historical methods and the method of interviews.

Keywords: Materialism, ideological violence, theology, national compact, puritan.
