Abstract

This work’s purpose is to expose the condition of Albanian language in the mouth of albanian speakers in school, public and private televisions and in political life in albanian territory. Everywhere where it’s spoken officially or unofficially. After the war in Kosova and the opening of Albania with the EU countries, Albanian language as the language in cohabitation has been distorted, especially in syntactic terms. Therefore the subject of our review will be illegal syntactic constructions in Albanian and the necessity for protection of the language law as the only salvation for it.
