Abstract

Making words, as we say in Medias as in particular to the crisis as well as in general the topic "Crisis creates mental and economic crisis ", for which even in my press release, which will keep the philosophy section. I want not only to highlight, but at the same time and stress, the truth must be told that mental crisis, so as the economy creature, has its own problems that life brings , as its a form which as such in terms certain socio - historical and cultural - historical has left its traces, its wounds, the good and the bad of its own, according to which they should be done, not only preventing the distribution, as to say such a virus, but also in diagnosis on the basis of which can be expected new thoughts and theories - wrong. This mental crisis that we create we need to solve in. Such things I think that can be understood only if we perform every time workmanlike its work with a professional responsibility, moral, national, ultimately human being as a thing is make the people aware.
