

BUILDING A POSITIVE CLIMATE BETWEEN PROFESSIONALS AND FAMILIES WITH CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES

Arbana Zhapaj

University of Vlora "Ismail Qemali", Vlora, Albania, E mail: arbanam2000@yahoo.com

Abstract

This study is part of a study on the limits to be built between families who have a child with disabilities and professionals who provide services for the integration of these children. The idea of the study is to draw praise from parents terms of service professionals given the information they have, psychological support, rehabilitation, technical support, home visits, training for parents, leisure, aid groups. Also studied the involvement of parents as far as building rehabilitation projects for their children. As parents believe in the help of professionals. Another consists rating on opinion that parents play regarding professionals in recognition of pathologies, family support, stress prevention, communication capabilities. This study is being conducted to see the needs in order to favor the development of a positive environment to families who have children with disabilities, who can enhance and realize their potential.

Keywords: parents, children with disabilities, professional, needs, potential developments